From within the quiet and sacred womb of Mary, the little precious Jesus was being formed in perfect detail.

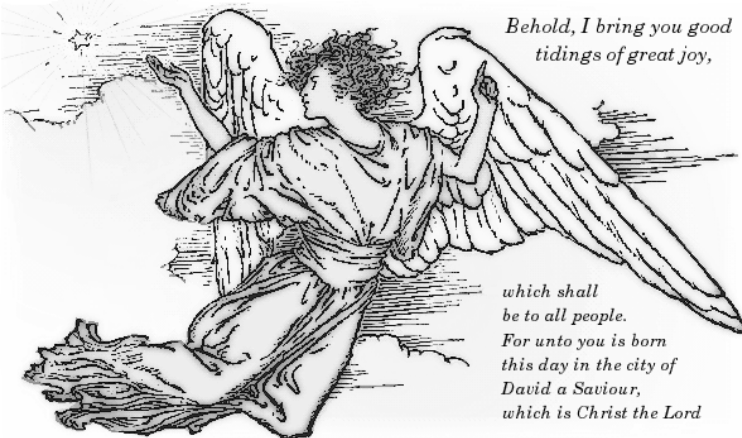

At only four weeks, His heart began beating - a heart that would eventually be broken over the sins of the world - a bleeding and sacred heart given for all mankind.

At six weeks the brain waves of baby Jesus could have been measured - a brain that housed the very mind of God. A mind that would know all things, including the evil in men's hearts and the holiness of God's throne.

At eight weeks His forming body would respond to touch and recoil from pain. How could His mother then know that pain would be the distinct mark upon her son's life? A life that would one day embrace a wooden cross.

At only ten weeks He was fully able to make a fist... but He probably didn't.

At twelve weeks the preborn baby Jesus could turn His head, curl His toes, and open and close His mouth. This little baby's head, simple and plain would one day be crowned with glory and honor. Would one day wear the great diadem to proclaim His Lordship over all the universe.

Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord

And His small mouth, practicing the movements of speech, still in the first trimester of pregnancy, would one day proclaim the great and marvelous news of the Kingdom, would speak to storms and quiet them, would confound the wise and reveal secrets to the simple. A mouth that would, in a day yet to come, slay all devils with one word.

January 2013 marks the 40th anniversary of Roe vs. Wade. In 1983 President Ronald Reagan issued a proclamation establishing the National Sanctity of Human Life Sunday (SOHLS). This tradition was upheld by both Presidents Herbert W. Bush and George W. Bush.

SOHLS is commemorated on the Sunday in January that falls closest to the day on which the Roe vs. Wade and Doe vs. Bolton decisions were handed down by the US Supreme Court on January 22, 1973.

Please continue to pray for the men and women working in the abortion clinics and for the broken hearted women who walk in their doors.

You can visit www.RememberingRoe.com for more information.

Would You Recommend Abortion in the Following Situations?

1. A preacher and his wife are living in tremendous poverty, they already have 14 children and now she finds that she's pregnant with number 15. Would you recommend an abortion?
2. The father is ill with syphilis, the mother has tuberculosis, they have 4 children. One child has died, one is blind, one is deaf and one has tuberculosis. The mother is pregnant. Would you recommend an abortion?
3. A baby is born crippled and a dwarf. If that outcome had been predicted in advance, would you recommend an abortion?
4. A white man raped a 13 year-old black girl and impregnated her. Would you recommend an abortion?
5. A poor teenage girl is pregnant, unmarried and now disowned by her father. She would name that child after the father and raise the child while bearing the disgrace of illegitimacy. Would you recommend an abortion?
6. A teenage girl is pregnant, she's not married and her fiancé is not the father of the baby. Would you recommend an abortion?

If you answered "yes" to any of the above questions, you would have recommended the death of:

1. John Wesley, Anglican evangelist
2. Ludwig van Beethoven, composer and pianist
3. English poet Alexander Pope
4. Gospel singer Ethel Waters
5. Father Joseph Mohr, lyricist and composer of Silent Night
6. Jesus Christ the Messiah

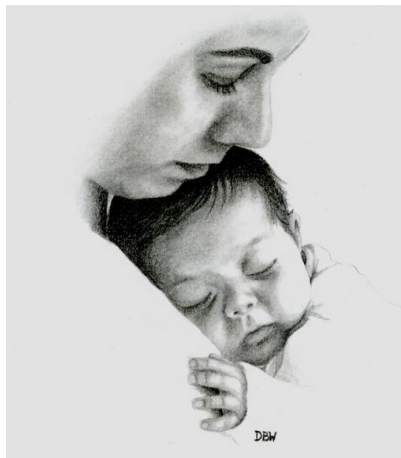

The Decision That Changed My Life

By: Maya Angelou

When I was 16, a boy in high school showed interest in me, so I had sex with him - just once. Afterwards I thought, "Is that all there is to it? My goodness, I'll never do that again!" Then, when I found out I was pregnant, I went to the boy and asked him for help, but he said it wasn't his baby and he didn't want any part of it.

I was scared to pieces. Back then, if you had money there were some girls who got abortions, but I couldn't deal with that idea. Oh, no. No. I knew there was somebody inside me. So I decided to keep the baby. My older brother, Bailey, my confidant, told me not to tell my mother or she'd take me out of school. So I hid it the whole time with big blouses! Finally, three weeks before I was due, my mother found out, I'll never forget what she said: "Now, tell me this - do you love the boy?" I said no. "Does he love you?" I said no. "Then there is no point in ruining three lives. We are going to have our baby!"

I'm telling you that the best decision I ever made was keeping that baby! Guy was a delight from the start - so good, so bright, and I can't imagine my life without him. At 17, I began working and got a place to live for my baby and me. Years later, when I was married, I wanted to have more children, but I couldn't conceive. Isn't it wonderful that I had a child at 16?

Praise God!
